Editorial Program

AU Press is the centre of scholarly publishing expertise for Athabasca University, Canada's Open University. It is the first scholarly press to be established by a Canadian university in the twenty-first century. We are dedicated to the dissemination of knowledge and research through open access digital journals and monographs, as well as through electronic media.

Our geographical focus is on Canada, the North American West, and the Circumpolar North. One of our mandates is to publish innovative and experimental works (in both fiction and non-fiction) that challenge established canons, subjects, and formats. As we are dedicated to making AU Press publications accessible to a broad readership through open access technologies, we cultivate the areas of open-, distance-, and e-learning. We promote neglected forms such as diary, memoir, and oral history.

Editorial Program

We publish peer-reviewed scholarly work that makes a difference. We disseminate research that makes us think, that moves the conversation forward. Our books explore a sense of place in western Canada, the relevance of history in our lives, and our impact on the world around us. We specialize in the following subject areas: The West; Canadian History and Environment; Energy, Ecology, and Sustainability; Northern Studies; Military and Strategic Studies; Contemporary Canadian Art and Architecture; Film Studies; African Studies; and Latin American and Caribbean Studies. As a scholarly publisher, we feel a responsibility to ensure that the research of our authors is accessible to its widest possible audience. We therefore embrace open-access publishing and strive to make as many of our publications as possible available as open-access ebooks.

PrograMme Éditorial

Les Presses de l'Université de Montréal poursuivent quatre objectifs:

1. diffuser les résultats de la recherche universitaire par des livres, des revues savants et l'édition électronique;
2. transférer des connaissances scientifiques à un large public;
3. participer à la vie de la Cité en proposant des réflexions sur des questions d'actualité;
4. contribuer au rayonnement national et international de l'Université de Montréal.

Les PUM publient dans des domaines aussi variés que la littérature, l'histoire, les sciences politiques et sociales et la santé.

Les PUM éditent et diffusent six revues savantes (Circuit, Criminologie, Études françaises, Géographie physique et Quatenaire, Meta, Sociologie et Sociétés) qui appliquent les règles de l'arbitrage par les pairs et dont la grande qualité a été régulièrement reconnue par les comités spécialisés des organismes subventionnaires provinciaux et fédéraux. Par leurs revues, les Presses contribuent à la diffusion des travaux de recherche au Québec et au Canada, et connaissent un rayonnement international important. Elles offrent de plus des services de production à d'autres éditeurs de revues comme Théologiques, Philosophiques, Revue d'histoire de l'Amérique française, Surfaces (revue électronique), etc.

Editorial Program

Scholarly books can transform processes, minds, and cultures. By publishing work of scholarly integrity in various formats, skillfully edited, designed, produced, and marketed, we participate in this transformation and advance new developments in scholarly discourse, contribute to education within and beyond the university, and reflect both our local and global community through the world of ideas.

Founded in 1974, Wilfrid Laurier University Press has established a reputation for excellence in scholarly publishing. We publish scholarly monographs and collections, trade books based on sound scholarship, and textbooks.

We welcome proposals from Canadian scholars in the disciplines of the humanities and social sciences; including history; cultural studies; environmental studies, including environmental humanities; film and media studies; German studies; Indigenous studies; life writing; literature; music; religious studies; political science; political philosophy; social work; and sociology.

Ours series include: Canadian Commentaries; Collected Works of Florence Nightingale; Cultural Studies; Early Canadian Literature; Environmental Humanities; Film and Media Studies; Indigenous Studies; Laurier Poetry; Life Writing; Memory and Testimony Studies; SickKids Community and Mental Health; Studies in Childhood and Family in Canada; TransCanada; WCGS German Studies; and the following published for the Canadian Corporation for Studies in Religion:

Comparative Ethics; Editions SR; Studies in Christianity and Judaism, and Studies in Women and Religion.
